

BILYAMINU UMAR MUHAMMED 114- 025121-10481

ASSESSMENT OF ISLAMIC UNIVERSITY IN UGANDA APPROACHES TO PEACE

BUILDING AMONG STUDENTS

MAY 2015

ABSTRACT

The purpose of the study was to analyses Assesses of Islamic University in Uganda approaches to Peace building among the Students. The general objective of the study was to explore the assessment of Islamic University in Uganda approaches to peace building among the students. The study is guided by following specific objectives To Examine how counseling service in the university promote peace building among students, To analyses how reprimand, dead year and discontinuation influence peace building among the students, To evaluate how intergroup relationship enhances peace building among the students, The research use descriptive research design the research adopted random sampling techniques the objectives of the study where tested using the research question which test the effect that The study found that majority of respondents felt that intergroup dialogue enhances Peace building among students. Similarly, the respondents were of the view that counseling services provided by lecturers in the University encourage intergroup relationship among Islamic University in Uganda students. The research recommended that there is need for Islamic University in Uganda to improve counseling services in the university in order for people from different background to participate in development of university, welfare and the nation in general. A clear strategy is also needed in area of disciplinary action such as reprimand, dead year, and discontinuation for effectiveness of peace building activities in Islamic University in Uganda. Intergroup relation is also require between people of different languages, religion, so as to achieved peaceful co-existence.